With a storehouse of subject-matter experts (SMEs), instructors, and facilities, the Center for Workforce and Community Development provides custom-tailored training packages to meet the specific needs of local businesses. The CWCD will begin with a needs assessment to identify skills gaps and understand your business’s training goals and then develop a plan to meet those needs.

Customized training services are available at your site or ours, and include:

- Curriculum development
- Pre-employment assessments
- Skills gaps assessment
- Professional development
- New hire and incumbent training
- And much more!

Santiago Rodriguez first visited GRADcafé in December 2018, after meeting with a Lee College counselor who recommended that he visit the organization for assistance with FAFSA. As Santiago attempted to enroll in college for the first time since graduating high school in May 2017, he faced several obstacles with the enrollment and financial aid process. In the weeks following his initial visit to GRADcafé, Santiago joined the Aspiring Young Adults (AYA) program. Through consistent communication with his GRAD advisors, Santiago was able to receive guidance when he was unsure of how to proceed. He reached out to GRAD advisors with questions about the financial aid verification process, payment plans and assistance with purchasing textbooks. GRAD advisors helped Santiago locate and gather the documents he needed to successfully begin his first semester towards his associates degree in process technology. Today, Santiago is enrolled as a part-time student in Lee College's Process Technician Program and attributes his success as a first-time college student to the assistance he received from GRADcafé.

“GRADcafé helped me through my first semester of college.”

“GRADcafé helped me through my first semester of college. Without their help, I wouldn’t have known how to complete financial aid and be as informed as I am about college.”
